Executive Summary

FY2026/3 1H Results

- Sales were ¥77.1B (YoY+8%, 1H historical peak), OP increased YoY
- In SPE Segment, HBM related orders received earlier than expected
- Net profit decreased YoY to ¥9.6B owing to extraordinary losses

Premises of FY2026/3 Forecast

- SPE: Expectations for HPC-related and high-end demand for China
- Metrology: Expectations for aerospace and defense-related demand

FY2026/3 Forecast

- Sales forecast raised by ¥5.0B due to better-than-expected 1H orders
- R&D and capex plans also revised
- Annual dividend projection revised (¥214/share → ¥222/share)

- Hello everyone, I am Kimura, President and CEO of Tokyo Seimitsu. Thank you very much for your continued support.
- Page 2 shows the executive summary of today's disclosure.
- Summarizing the 1H business results, sales reached a new first half (1H) peak and operating profit increased YoY.
- Orders significantly exceeded our expectations thanks to HBM related business, which had been expected to be pushed out, were received in the 1H. However net profit decreased owing to extraordinary losses.
- As for the 2H, in SPE, we expect growth in HPC-related including generative AI (HPC-related including Gen.AI), high-end products for China, and memory applications. In Metrology, demand for the aerospace and defense sectors is advancing, and we are expecting growth.
- The Company raised FY2026/3 forecast, driven by the better-than-expected orders, except net profit. R&D and capex plans were also revised.
- Simultaneously, we revised the annual dividend projection upward. This revision was based on payout ratio that assumes exclusion of the extraordinary losses. For more details, please refer to timely disclosure posted today.

※Cost for countermeasures against potential future defects in specific products

- Page 3 shows the results for the FY2026/3 1H.
- In the upper section, Sales increased, primarily driven by SPE, resulting in higher OP and recurring profit.
- Sales reached a new peak for the 1H.
- Net profit decreased YoY owing to extraordinary losses of ¥2.1B.
- This extraordinary losses were incurred in current period relates to high-precision temperature control for Testing equipment in SPE segment, so called Prober. The company confirmed potential future defects in specific products, therefore costs related to countermeasure against them has accounted as an extraordinary losses during this period. The company already identified clear technical countermeasures for these defects and are taking necessary actions. Therefore, the Company now anticipates no further cost arisen that may impact to the financial results.
- Orders increased YoY due to capture the demand for HBM in SPE.

FY2026/3 2Q Quarterly Results

- Page 4 shows the quarterly performance trend.
- In the 2Q, sales, profits, and orders generally increased YoY and QoQ.
- Next, I will explain the results by segment.

SPE Segment Quarterly Trend

2Q orders significantly exceeded our expectations due to HBM related orders ahead of estimates

2Q sales were slightly below the forecast due to the transportation delays caused by typhoons and other factors

- Page 5 shows the quarterly trends in SPE orders, sales, and OP.
- 2Q orders were ¥34.9B, which exceeded our expectations.
- In addition to stable HPC demand and high-end demand in China, HBM related orders for probers in 2Q, which we originally estimated to be pushed out, has exceeded our order expectations.
- 2Q Sales were almost on track, while some products were delayed due to typhoons and other factors therefore resulted slightly below than the forecast.

SPE Segment per Product

Orders: The ratio of probers increased, primarily due to the order received for HBM

(BJPY)

<Sales>

(BJPY)

<Orders>

- Page 6 shows the quarterly sales and orders for SPE per product.
- On the right side, 2Q orders for prober were approximately Mid-70% of the total. This was due to continued strong testing demand for HBM.

Metrology Segment Quarterly Trend

2Q orders were largely within expectations (demand from replacement and aerospace & defense remained solid)
2Q Sales were largely within forecast

7 @ TOKYO SEIMITSU

ACCURETECH | TOKYO SEIMITSU

- Page 7 shows the quarterly trends in Metrology segment orders, sales, and OP.
- 2Q orders were ¥9.8B, in line with our expectations.
- Replacement demand and new demand from industries such as aerospace and defense were captured, while new demand in the automotive and machinery sectors remained weak. Additionally, customers who had been assessing tariff impacts during the 1Q resumed investments in the 2Q, resulting in movements not typical of normal seasonality.
- 2Q sales were generally in line with the forecast.

Metrology Segment per Product

No notable change in both order and sales during 2Q

<Orders>

- Page 8 shows quarterly orders and sales by products in Metrology segment.
- Although product mix trends show some variation, we believe there are no significant changes worth noting.

Balance Sheet

Total assets remained flattish from March 2025 amid an increase in Fixed assets and a decrease in accounts receivable

- Page 9 explains the balance sheet.
- Total assets at the end of September 2025 amounted to ¥238.4B.
- On the assets section on the left, total assets remained flat from March 31st, 2025, due to an increase in fixed assets primarily resulting from the completion of the Nagoya Plant in Aichi, Japan, and a decrease in accounts receivable.
- On the liabilities and net assets on the right, total liabilities decreased due to the repayment of loans payable.
- The equity ratio at the end of September 2025 was 74.8%.

Cash Flows

FCF remained positive primarily due to profit recognition

(BJPY)

10 @ TOKYO SEIMITSU

- Page 10 explains cash flow. These are 1H results for these 3 fiscal years.
- On the right, in FY2026/3 1H, operating cash flow was + ¥16.8B, primarily due to profit recognition. Investment cash flow was - ¥7.3B, resulting in free cash flow of + ¥9.5B.
- Financing cash flow was - ¥8.5B due to dividend payments and other items. As a result, Cash and cash equivalents at the end of the FY2026/3 1H amounted to ¥55.4B.

R&D, Capex and Depreciation

Accumulated 2Q results generally progressed as planned. Revised R&D and capex plans

(BJPY)

- Page 11 shows the results for R&D, Capex, and depreciation.
- The bar graph shows the results for the accumulated 2Q, which generally progressed as per planned. Furthermore, construction of the Nagoya Plant was completed this August.
- The horizontal line shows the full-year plan. R&D increased by ¥0.5B to strengthen development, while capex increased by ¥1.0B, primarily to expand production capacity for Prober.
- In addition, the Company is currently planning to purchase new land adjacent to Hanno Plant in Saitama, Japan, therefore we are reviewing capex plan for current fiscal year.
- Here is a description of the FY2026/3 2Q results so far.

Premises of FY2026/3 Forecast (Blue: changed by November)

Sales & Profits

SPE : Continued contribution to sales from HPC-related including Gen.AI. Increased sales vs. Aug. plan from strong 1H order

- HPC-related including Gen.AI : Sales/profits contribution to rise (approximately to 40%)
- Global OSAT : Shipments of probers for HPC to increase
- China Demands : Shipments and installations of orders already received are proceeding as planned
- Memory (Non-HBM) : 2H shipments to increase

Metr. : Remain at a high level, particularly solid 2H demand in aerospace and defense

Profits : Proceed gross-cost reduction activities amid rising cost of goods and expenses

Order Trend

SPE : Continued High-level HPC orders are expected in the 2H

- HPC-related including Gen.AI : Both HBM and Logic are expected to remain at high levels as in 1H
- Global OSAT : UTR is on the rise
- China Demands : Solid demand expected in the high-end devices overall including for HPC
- Memory (Non-HBM) : Expected increase in inquiries

Metr. : Continue to capture business opportunities in aerospace and defense, in addition to replacement investments and charge/discharge testing systems

- Page 12 shows the premises for the FY2026/3 forecast with the changes from the August assumption in blue.
- Regarding the sales and profits on the upper section, SPE sales are expected to exceed the previous forecast due to higher-than-expected 1H orders.
- Among these, demand for HPC-related including Gen. AI, and demand for China are expected to continue to be the main drivers of performance, while shipments for memory (non-HBM) are also expected to increase.
- Profits continue to be impacted by increased material cost and expense growth, and we will advance our cost reduction activities.
- Regarding the orders on the lower section, SPE demand will be targeted for HPC applications and to capture high-end demand in China. For Metrology, the opportunities in the aerospace and defense sections, as seen in the 1H, will be captured.

FY2026/3 Forecast

FY forecast and dividend projection (previously disclosed on 4th Aug. 2025) revised

Sales/OP/RP raised owing to better 1H SPE orders, while lowered Net profit owing to extraordinary losses

New dividend projection has set based on profit assuming an exclusion of extraordinary losses

Forex assumption: ¥140 / US$ (unchanged) (Forex impact is minimal: High ratio of Yen-based)

- Page 13 explains the revised forecast for FY2026/3 based on the premises I explained.
- Compared to the August forecast, sales were revised upward by ¥5.0B, and OP and recurring profit were each revised upward by ¥0.5B. Both of these factors are based on better-than-expected 1H SPE orders and the capture of demand that was pushed out from the 1H.
- Net profit forecast was lowered due to the extraordinary losses explained earlier.
- R&D and capex plans were also changed as explained earlier.
- Additionally, we have revised our full-year dividend projection as disclosed in today's disclosure. This dividend projection is based on the shareholder return policy and on the net profit forecast that assumes the exclusion of the extraordinary loss incurred during the current 1H. For details, please refer to today's disclosure.
- Of note, we remain assumed exchange rate unchanged (¥140 per US dollar). At present, we estimate that the impact of exchange rate fluctuations on business results will be minimal.

SPE Sales/Orders incl. Forecasts

FY2026/3 2H orders are expected to slightly increase YoY (Partly reactionary decrease from the strong 1H order)

14 @ TOKYO SEIMITSU

- Page 14 shows forecasts of SPE's sales and orders per fiscal half.
- FY2026/3 2H orders are expected to slightly increase YoY.
- The Company did not expect changes in the business situation, and the forecast for 2H order decrease HoH due to a reactionary decrease following higher-than-forecast orders received in the 1H. Demand for HPC-related, including Gen. AI will continue to be the main driver.
- Outlook of product composition ratio for FY2026/3 2H is; In sales, High-60% for Probers, and Low-30% for Assembly machines. In orders, Low-60% for Probers, and High-30% for Assembly machines.

Metrology Sales/Orders incl. Forecasts

FY2026/3 2H orders are expected to remain flat YoY

15 @ TOKYO SEIMITSU

- Page 15 shows forecasts of Metrology's sales and orders per fiscal half.
- FY2026/3 2H orders are expected to remain flat YoY
- Outlook of product composition ratio for FY2026/3 2H is ; Both sales and orders, 60% for Measuring Instruments, 30% for Automatic Gauges, and the remainder for Battery Testing systems.
- That concludes my explanations. Thank you for your attention.

※1: 従前の補足資料では、臨時従業員数の期末の実数を表記しておりましたが、年間平均数に改めております。また従業員合計は、正社員合計人数と、期間平均臨時従業員数の単純合算です。
In previous supplementary documents, the number of temporary employees was given as the actual number at the end of each fiscal term. However, this has been revised to the average number for each period. Therefore, "Number of employees" is a simple sum of the total number of regular employees and the average number of temporary employees during the period.
